Notice of Information Practices

This notice describes how medical and other personal information about you may be used and disclosed. It also describes how you can get access to this information. Please review the notice carefully.

You entrust us with individually identifiable personal health and financial information (referred to as "personal health information" in the rest of this notice). You are our best and most important source of information about you.

We may also collect personal information about you from others.
For example, we may collect personal health information from other health care providers, employers, educational entities, and the judicial system, insurance companies or other community referral sources or partners.

Examples of Information We May Collect and Maintain Include:

Your name, address, telephone number, social security number, date of birth, marital status, income, email address, policy or account number, account balance, policy coverage, premium payment, claims history, medical information, motor vehicle reports, details about your transactions with state or federal agencies.

In the Following Situations, We May Use and/or Disclose Your Personal Health Information Without Your Authorization:

- To provide treatment.
- To obtain payment for treatment.
- To evaluate the quality of care that you receive.
- To an insurance authority.
- Performing mandatory licensing and regulatory compliance functions.
- For payment such as using details received from an insurance company to coordinate benefits.
- For payments such as to a health care provider to identify insurance coverage or benefits.
- For health care operations to detect or prevent criminal activity, fraud and material misrepresentation.
- For public health activities such as to prevent or control disease, injury, or disability.
- To health oversight agencies for compliance purposes.
- In response to a court or administrative order.
- In response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by another person in a dispute.
- For law enforcement purposes.
- To avert a serious threat to health or safety to you, another person, or the public.
- To federal officials for intelligence, counterintelligence, and other national security activities.
- To worker's compensation or other programs that provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness.

Those who act on our behalf

Agencies who receive your personal information from Women's Health Care are required to keep your personal health information confidential. They are required to use the personal health information only to provide the services we have asked them to provide.

All Other Users and Disclosures of Personal Information

Women's Health Care will not disclose any of your personal health information for any marketing purposes. All other uses and sharing of personal health information, are not permitted or required by law, will be made only with your written authorization. You may revoke this authorization in writing. If you do, we will no longer use or share the information for the reason covered by the authorization-unless we have taken prior action based on the authorization. We are unable to withdraw any disclosures we have already made with your authorization.

Your Rights Regarding Your Personal Health Information:

- To inspect and obtain a copy of your personal health information. Copies will be provided for a fee.
- To request that we amend your personal health information. We will consider your request, but are not legally bound to accept your amendment.
- To receive details about our sharing of your personal health information.
- To request special accommodations on how your personal health information is communicated (such as alternative addresses and phones).

Security of Personal Information

We maintain physical, administrative, and technical safeguards to guard your information. We limit employee access to information based on essential job functions.

If there is ever a breach of your protected health information, we are required, by law, to notify you in writing, within 30 days of the breach.

We are required to keep your personal information private. We are providing this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices. We will abide by the terms of this notice as currently in effect.
If you believe that your privacy rights have been violated, you may send a written complaint to Women's Health Care. You may also write the Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services. We will not take any action against you for filing this complaint.

We reserve the right to change the terms of our notice. We reserve the right to make the new notice apply to all personal information that we maintain. We will provide a new copy of any material change at your next office visit. We can also mail you a copy to your last known address.

Notice of Rights and Responsibilities

I certify by signing below that I have received, read, and understand the Notice of Information Practices and have had the opportunity to ask questions regarding the above, as well as, any questions regarding my registration with Women's Health Care.
